In economics, a free market is a system in which the prices for goods and services are determined by the open market and by consumers. In a free market, the laws and forces of supply and demand are free from any intervention by a government or other authority and from all forms of economic privilege, monopolies and artificial scarcities. Proponents of the concept of free market contrast it with ...

Fear and the Christian by Tony Warren Is the fear of God, or the fear of man ever justified for Christians? This question comes up frequently and is most often answered by theologians with a resounding, no. They make the claim that in the New Covenant we do not need to fear God, and that only the Old Covenant taught the fear of God.
