Chance is a novel by Joseph Conrad, published in 1913 following serial publication the previous year. Although the novel was not one upon which Conrad's later critical reputation was to depend, it was his greatest commercial success upon initial publication.

Chance (Conrad novel) - Wikipedia

Many of Joseph Conrad's novels deal with loneliness. Often the hero is isolated by chance circumstances and his own actions, and he is left to struggle to some kind of redemption. In Chance, the isolated figure is a woman, and this is the only one of Conrad's full-length novels to put a female character at its centre.

Chance by Joseph Conrad - Goodreads

"Chance" was Conrad's first commercial success after nearly 20 years as a writer, and his first novel to have a happy ending. It tells the story of Flora de Barral, the abandoned daughter of a bankrupt tycoon, and her long struggle to find happiness and dignity.
