BiblicalTraining.org | One of the greatest needs of the church is for leadership that is biblically informed, fully devoted to Christ, and prepared for their leadership role. This track is an answer to this need and works for lay leaders and bi-vocational pastors. Our program is built around the biblical requirements found especially in the Pastoral Epistles (1 Timothy 3, 5,

The Plymouth Brethren are a conservative, low church, non-conformist, evangelical Christian movement whose history can be traced to Dublin, Ireland in the late 1820s, originating from Anglicanism. The group emphasizes sola scriptura, the belief that the Bible is the supreme authority for church doctrine and practice over and above any other source of authority.

Two questions I received last year: 1) Do preachers call you when they are considering coming to the church where you are an interim? 2) Why do we too often not seek "outside help" to gain a fresh perspective on a congregation's situation? Answers to the questions: Do preachers call you when they are considering coming to the church where you are an interim?
